Hobe Sound Public Library Mural

-STATEMENT OF INTEREST -

The concept I am proposing for the Hobe Sound Public Library is born from a simple but powerful idea: reading transforms landscapes. In my design, books open the way to Florida's scrub environment, inviting children and families to step into a world where nature and imagination live side by side. The warm colors of a Hobe Sound sunset, the silhouettes of native trees, and the presence of local wildlife create a setting that feels both magical and true to this community's identity. This project speaks directly to my artistic mission of blending vibrant storytelling, environmental awareness, and community-centered art into one cohesive experience.

My approach is rooted in thoughtful visual symbolism. The children reading become the heart of the composition, representing curiosity, growth, and the timeless connection between libraries and learning. The surrounding native plants and animals — palmettos, rosemary blooms, tortoises, birds, and even gentle forest creatures like skunks — are illustrated with respect for local ecology, serving as guides in this mural-world. The stacked books, glowing with color, act as pathways that bridge nature with knowledge, echoing the library's role as both a sanctuary and a source of discovery. The design also harmonizes with the two artistic book-shaped benches, creating a cohesive environment where visitors can sit and truly feel part of the story.

This project aligns deeply with my experience creating murals and public artworks across Florida, many of which honor themes of nature, community identity, and imagination. Pieces such as "Thinking About Life" in Hallandale Beach, my public sculptures for Maurice Ferré Park, and multiple proposals celebrating wildlife and environmental preservation demonstrate my ability to design and execute large-scale, nature-driven murals with emotional impact and strong visual clarity. My process always involves careful planning, detailed renderings, professional execution, and a commitment to durability in Florida's climate.

The Hobe Sound Public Library mural is an opportunity to create a piece that feels alive, welcoming, and deeply rooted in place. My goal is to craft a scene that children will return to again and again, noticing new colors, animals, and little surprises hidden throughout the scrub landscape. It is a mural meant to spark imagination, celebrate the joy of reading, and honor the beauty of Florida's natural heritage.

This design is not just a mural — it is an invitation. An invitation for visitors to pause, breathe, read, explore, and fall in love with the unique character of Hobe Sound all over again.

ARTIST STATEMENT

I am Daniela Sanchez Vegas, a proudly self-taught and multifaceted artist on a quest for what I call Artistic Freedom. "Create with no boundaries" is not just a motto for me; it's a way of life. Throughout my career, I have embraced a diverse array of media, constantly pushing the limits of innovation and creativity. My art defies categorization, blending elements of abstract, pop art, and contemporary styles. Whether I'm crafting intricate geometric patterns or capturing the essence of a portrait, versatility is the hallmark of my work. I refuse to confine myself to any single medium; my canvas ranges from the bottom of swimming pools to expansive murals, from towering sculptures to salvaged material furniture pieces.

What sets my art apart is its boldness—a vibrant explosion of color, form, and expression that ignites inspiration and joy in those who encounter it. I eschew the pretentiousness of "art speak," preferring to let my creations speak for themselves. My mission is simple: to infuse the world with art that celebrates life's beauty and leaves a lasting legacy of positivity.

Nature serves as my greatest muse, guiding my artistic vision and fueling my passion for ecological responsibility. I am committed to using eco-friendly materials and practices in my work, honoring the planet that inspires me.

As I continue on my artistic journey, I aspire to see my creations grace more public spaces, enriching communities with their vibrancy and spirit. Through each stroke of my brush and every sculpted form, I seek to uplift hearts, ignite imaginations, and leave a colorful imprint on the world.

Endorsing artistic freedom, embracing boundless creativity, and spreading joy—one masterpiece at a time.
