US announces $5.9B in Ukraine assistance

Steve Holland and Andrea Shalal REUTERS

WASHINGTON – The United States on Monday announced nearly $6 billion in additional military and budget assistance for Ukraine as President Joe Biden uses his final weeks in office to surge aid to Kyiv before President-elect Donald Trump takes power.

Biden announced $2.5 billion in additional security assistance for Ukraine.

Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen said the United States has made available $3.4 billion in additional budget aid to Ukraine, giving the war-torn country critical resources amid intensifying Russian attacks on Ukrainian civilians and infrastructure.

“At my direction, the United States will continue to work relentlessly to strengthen Ukraine’s position in this war over the remainder of my time in office,” Biden said in a statement.

Biden’s announcement includes $1.25 billion in military aid drawn from U.S. stockpiles and a $1.22 billion Ukraine Security Assistance Initiative package, the final USAI package of Biden’s time in office.

Under USAI, military equipment is procured from the defense industry or partners, rather than drawn from American stocks, meaning it can take months or years to arrive on the battlefield.

Yellen said in a statement the direct budget assistance, provided in coordination with the U.S. Agency for International Development and the State Department, marked the final disbursement under the 2024 Ukraine Security Supplemental Appropriations Act.

Yellen

Congress has approved $175 billion in total assistance for Ukraine since Russia’s invasion of its neighbor nearly three years ago, according to the non-partisan Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget. Recently the Russians have been using North Korean troops to bolster their fighting position. North Korean forces are experiencing mass casualties on the front lines, with 1,000 of their troops killed or wounded in the last week alone in Russia’s Kursk region, White House spokesperson John Kirby said Friday.

Biden said the new assistance will provide Ukraine with “an immediate influx of capabilities that it continues to use to great effect on the battlefield and longer-term supplies of air defense, artillery, and other critical weapons systems.”

Since the war began, Washington has committed billions of dollars in aid for Ukraine, but it is uncertain if the aid will continue at that pace under Trump, who succeeds Biden on Jan. 20.

Trump has said he wants to bring the war to a swift end. During the presidential campaign, Trump questioned the level of U.S. involvement in the conflict, suggesting European allies should bear more of the financial burden.

Some of his fellow Republicans – who will control both the House of Representatives and Senate next month – have also cooled on sending more aid to Kyiv.

A U.S. official said the $3.4 billion in budget funding brings the total in U.S. budget aid to Ukraine to just over $30 billion since Russia’s invasion in February 2022. Most of those funds are used to keep Ukraine’s government running by paying salaries to teachers and other state employees.

Washington has separately provided approximately $61.4 billion in security assistance to Kyiv since the start of the war, according to the Pentagon.

Biden said the Defense Department is in the process of delivering hundreds of thousands of artillery rounds, thousands of rockets and hundreds of armored vehicles.

Trump wants military to deal with deportations

Daniel Gonzalez Arizona Republic | USA TODAY NETWORK

President-elect Donald Trump repeatedly has indicated he plans to use the military to help carry out mass deportations by declaring a national emergency to stop what he calls an “invasion” at the border.

But it is questionable whether Trump would have the legal authority to deploy the military to be directly involved in immigration enforcement even if he declares a national emergency, experts say.

Declaring a national emergency is “not going to give him all the powers that he wants,” said Ariel Ruiz Soto, a senior policy analyst at the Migration Policy Institute, a nonpartisan research organization.

While active-duty military personnel and National Guard troops have been used multiple times in the past to provide support to the Border Patrol along the southern border, they have not been used to carry out actual immigration arrests and other enforcement duties, Ruiz said.

That is because there is a law on the books, the Posse Comitatus Act, that prohibits the military from being used for law enforcement purposes, Ruiz said.

“They could patrol the border, but they could not necessarily arrest and remove (undocumented immigrants) by themselves,” Ruiz said. “That continues to be the Border Patrol that would do that at the border and ICE in the interior.”

Trump, however, has said he plans to declare a national emergency and invoke two other laws, the Insurrection Act and the Alien Enemies Act, to give him the legal authority to use the military to help carry out mass deportations, according to the Brennan Center for Justice.

Trump’s use of the military in immigration enforcement stems from the Heritage Foundation’s Project 2025 conservative blueprint for the next presidency. The document calls for the next president to take the unprecedented step of using active-duty military personnel at the border to carry out arrests.

“In addition to finalizing the southwestern land border wall, the next Administration should take a creative and aggressive approach to tackling these dangerous criminal organizations at the border,” the document said. “This could include use of active-duty military personnel and National Guardsmen to assist in arrest operations along the border – something that has not yet been done.”

During a recent interview with Time magazine, Trump reiterated that he plans to use the military to help carry out mass deportations and would go up to the “maximum level of what the law allows.”

The Posse Comitatus Act, Trump said, “doesn’t stop the military if it’s an invasion of our country, and I consider it an invasion of our country. We have criminals coming into our countries that we’ve never seen, we’ve never seen before.”

During Trump’s first term in office, Trump declared a national emergency to access billions of dollars earmarked for military construction projects to build a wall along the southern border after he was unable to get Congress to approve his request for border wall funding.

Some Republicans opposed Trump declaring a national emergency to build a border wall in 2019, Ruiz noted. But the political climate has changed and Trump may not face the same pushback in his second term in declaring a national emergency to use the military to help carry out mass deportations, Ruiz said.

Ukraine says it brought home 189 POWs in swap with Russia

KYIV, Ukraine – Ukraine and Russia carried out a new exchange of prisoners of war on Monday, with Kyiv bringing home 189 former captives, President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said Monday.

Zelenskyy thanked the United Arab Emirates and other partners for facilitating the swap.

“The return of our people from Russian captivity is always very good news for each of us. And today is one of such days: our team managed to bring 189 Ukrainians home,” Zelenskyy said on the Telegram messaging app.

The Russian Defense Ministry reported earlier Monday on the prisoner swap, saying each side had freed 150 prisoners of war. There was no immediate explanation of the discrepancy in the numbers reported.

Pelicot won’t appeal guilty verdict in mass rape trial, lawyer says

PARIS – Dominique Pelicot, sentenced to 20 years in jail by a French court for repeatedly raping and raping his then-wife Gisele for almost a decade and inviting dozens of strangers to rape her, will not appeal, his lawyer said on Monday, although a new trial will take place as 17 co-defendants have appealed.

Gisele Pelicot, 72, has become a symbol of female courage and resilience during the three-month trial of her now ex-husband and his 50 co-defendants, in a case that has horrified the world. All were found guilty by the court on Dec. 19.

“He decided not to appeal, because he says it would be a new ordeal and new confrontations for his wife, who he always said in the debates was not his adversary,” Dominique Pelicot’s lawyer, Beatrice Zavarro, said on FranceInfo Radio.

Iran confirms arrest of Italian journalist

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates – Iran confirmed the arrest of Italian journalist Cecilia Sala for “violating the laws of the Islamic Republic,” Iran’s official IRNA news agency reported on Monday.

Sala, 29, who works for the newspaper Il Foglio and the podcast company Chora Media, was detained in Tehran on Dec. 19, according to the Italian foreign ministry. Italy’s Foreign Minister Antonio Tajani declined to say whether the case might be linked to the arrest of an Iranian in Italy this month at the request of the United States.

RE: Notice of public hearing regarding Comprehensive Plan Amendment 24-21, Nine Gems: An application initiated by the Martin County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) to amend the Future Land Use Map (FLUM) for a property owned by Martin County and the South Florida Water Management District.

LOCATION: As shown on the enclosed location map, the ±1,533-acre property, commonly known as Nine Gems, is located approximately 4 miles South of SW Bridge Road between SW Pratt-Whitney Road and Florida's Turnpike in unincorporated Martin County.

Dear Property Owner:

As the owner of property within 2,500 feet of the identified site in the above description and shown on the enclosed map, please be advised that the described site is the subject of an application to make the following changes.

1) The following amendment to the FLUM will be considered at two legislative public hearings:

FROM: AGRICULTURAL TO: INSTITUTIONAL-PUBLIC CONSERVATION

Public hearings for the item listed above are scheduled before both the Local Planning Agency and the Board of County Commissioners (BOCC). The BOCC will consider transmittal to the State Land Planning Agency of the proposed future land use map amendment. The date, time and place of the scheduled hearings are as follows:

Governing Body: LOCAL PLANNING AGENCY

7:00 P.M., or as soon after as the matter may be heard, on Thursday, January 16, 2025

Governing Body: BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

9:00 A.M., or as soon after as the matter may be heard, on Tuesday, January 28, 2025

Place: Martin County Administrative Center
2401 S.E. Monterey Road
Stuart, Florida 34996

All interested persons are invited to attend the above-described hearing and will have an opportunity to speak.

Comprehensive Planning Facts: The Future Land Use Map is an exhibit of the Martin County Comprehensive Growth Management Plan which is one of the primary tools for managing land development. The Future Land Use designation of a parcel of land determines the general type of use allowed, as well as the maximum level of density or intensity allowed (such as the number of residential units per acre). The zoning regulations provide one or more zoning districts for implementing each Future Land Use designation. The zoning designation determines, in more detail than the Future Land Use designation, what type and level of development may occur. A change to the Future Land Use Map requires the following legislative public hearings:

1. Local Planning Agency (to make a recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners).
2. Board of County Commissioners (to determine whether the proposed amendment should be transmitted to the state land planning agency).
3. Board of County Commissioners (to determine whether the proposed amendment should be adopted).

Accessibility arrangements: Persons with disabilities who need an accommodation to participate in these proceedings are entitled, at no cost, to the provision of certain assistance. This does not include transportation to and from the meeting. Please contact the Office of the ADA Coordinator at (772) 320-3131, or the Office of the County Administrator at (772) 288-5400, or in writing to 2401 S.E. Monterey Road, Stuart, FL 34996, no later than three days before the date of the meeting. Persons using a TTY device, please call 711 Florida Relay Services.

Record for appeals: If any person who decides to appeal a decision made with respect to any matter considered at the meetings or hearings of a board, committee, agency, council, or advisory group, that person will need a record of the proceedings and, for such purpose, may need to ensure that a verbatim record of the proceedings is made. This record should include the testimony and evidence upon which the appeal is to be based.

Public Involvement opportunities. All interested persons are invited to attend the above-described hearings and will have an opportunity to speak during the public comment portion of the public hearing. Written comments will be included as part of the public record of the application.
